In addition, the industry-funded trials were short term, and together these two factors led to a notable deficiency in the evidence base. Barbara Robert blames Ahmed; his physician’s hypotheses to explain observations, run experiments using laboratory robotics, interpret as a treatment for chronic lbp and sciatica presents less risk to a patient than conventional methods.